Serenade with the Royal Philharmonic released today

The long awaited re-release of 'Serenade' with the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra is finally upon us. Out today, this classic of the romantic guitar is released for the first time on CD. All the recordings have been digitally re-mastered at the Alchemy Studios in London to achieve the best sound and, if possible, to improve on the original recording made at London's Abbey Road Studios.

The album is available at a discount for the first few weeks from Amazon and all good record shops.
